As of 2023/08/31

Investment Objective & Strategy

The investment objective of the Fund is to offer capital appreciation over the long term through investment primarily in a basket of international equity markets and currencies. The portfolio will retain a good level of diversification and will invest, directly or indirectly, into a wide range of asset classes that include cash, bonds, equities, commodities and property.

The Fund is ideally suited to investors with a high risk tolerance and an investment horizon of seven years or longer.

In seeking to achieve the investment objective, the Fund will invest primarily in participatory interests of collective investment schemes or other similar schemes whose underlying portfolios provide exposure to a diversified portfolio of equity investments across a wide range of markets and sectors globally, and across a broad range of currencies over time. The Fund may also invest in transferable securities. The Fund may use futures, options and swap contracts and enter into forward foreign exchange transactions and exchange-traded derivatives, for hedging purposes and efficient portfolio management.

Risk Profile

Investors in this portfolio need to be able to tolerate high levels of volatility in the medium term, in order to grow their capital in the long term. There is a reasonable probability of capital loss over time periods shorter than 5 years.

Quarterly Fund Commentary

The second quarter of 2023 saw a wide range of outcomes—generally positive, with some assets performing remarkably strong, although this was not a synchronized experience. Once again, inflation and interest rates played a prominent role, with inflation retreating at different speeds across the world, as interest rates near their expected peaks. Economic resilience was another major theme for the quarter, with stronger than expected growth. The Fund returned 6.0% for the quarter and has generated a return of 13.5% over the past year.

Asset Allocation

Within Equities, US Equities were amongst the biggest contributors to returns as they benefitted from the strong growth performance over the quarter. Japan also contributed to portfolio returns on the back of strong performance and a relatively overweight position.

Large U.S. growth stocks moved significantly higher, while smaller value stocks lagged. The “magnificent seven” was a new term coined to celebrate the dominance of a selected few winners, due to the artificial intelligence euphoria. Financials, healthcare, and utilities have all struggled in this environment. Yet, defensive assets have seen the biggest fundamental shift and higher than usual volatility.

Among currencies, the big story has been the Japanese Yen’s weakness, with relatively low-interest rates and inflation persisting in the region. Other major currencies like the US dollar saw only modest movements for the quarter.

Fund Selection

Turning to the underlying investments, the contribution from fund selection was positive over the quarter.

Over the quarter Value (Dodge & Cox Worldwide US Stock) underperformed Quality (Natixis Loomis Sayles US Eq leaders and iShares Edge MSCI US Quality Factor). Sectors such as Healthcare (iShares S&P 500 Health Care Sector) and Consumer Staples (SPDR® S&P US Consumer Staples) struggled during the second quarter. The hype around artificial intelligence continued to be a positive for sectors like Technology and Communication Services (Xtrackers MSCI World Comm Services), which acted as a tailwind for Growth funds’ performance.

The Emerging Market fund managers (Fidelity Emerging Markets and Lazard Emerging Markets Equity) were able to navigate a very tricky quarter and succeeded in outperforming their benchmarks. On the other hand, Baillie Gifford China, while not able to avoid the losses suffered in China, were able to limit losses.

Summary

Given recent gains, it is important to consider the likelihood of continued strength in the market. Some market commentators suggest that this rally signifies the start of a new bull market and advise investors to enter equities to take advantage of the upward momentum. On the other hand, some argue that it is a bear market rally and recommend that investors exit stocks while the opportunity exists.

From our perspective, the question for investors isn't simply whether to raise the sails and embrace a new bull market or to prepare for a near-term downturn. Instead, evaluating how to best position portfolios based on current valuations is crucial. As investors who prioritize diversification, we believe that multi-asset investing holds value in the present environment. We have identified specific areas of interest that we incorporate into the portfolios we manage, taking into account the mandate and available opportunities.

Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future.

Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the manager.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed. The Fund is not permitted to enter into any form of borrowing or loan arrangement with other funds of the Company nor other collective investment schemes of the Manager.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager and/ or Sub-Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
