■ Market commentary

The strength of markets seen in Q2 continued in July, as developed equity markets rose and emerging markets achieved a positive return. Dollar weakness continued and has invariably provided a powerful tailwind for emerging markets. As global cases of Covid-19 passed 19 million, the price of gold reached a record high. Away from the pandemic, there was a further rise in tensions between the US and China. Together with the US Presidential election and the Brexit deadline, both now in sight, these uncertainties suggest that markets are likely to face higher levels of volatility in the months ahead.

Although dramatic collapses of 10% or more in Q2 GDP in the US and Europe captured headlines, these had been fully discounted; the more important current levels of activity showed an unexpectedly strong recovery from the pandemic-induced collapse, helped by ongoing monetary and fiscal support. Despite the recovery in leading economies to date, there remains deep uncertainty about the sustainability and strength of growth, and that uncertainty has been heightened by signs of second waves of the virus emerging, notably in the US, as well as Australia, Hong Kong, Japan and, to a lesser extent, parts of Europe, plus extended first waves in developing countries, particularly Brazil and India.

Emerging markets returned 8.1%. Meanwhile developed markets, measured by the MSCI World index returned 6.5%, led this time by developed markets in the US and Asia, with gains of 6.9% and 7.0% respectively.

Bond markets gained overall in July, with US investment grade corporate bonds returning 3.3% compared with 1.2% from Treasuries, while high yield bonds returned 3.1%.

2021 promises to be a year of robust recovery in economies and corporate earnings, and risk assets will have continuing strong support from the lowest interest rates in history, substantial asset purchases by central banks, and exceptional levels of fiscal spending by governments. We therefore expect markets to move higher through 2021 and would use setbacks in the months ahead as a buying opportunity.

■ Risk warnings and important notes

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors and financial advice should be sought before proceeding with an investment. Past performance is not indicative of future returns and there can be no assurance that the performance of the Fund will achieve its stated objective. All performance is calculated on a total returns basis, net of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Collective investments are generally medium to long term investments and are traded at ruling prices. The value of the Fund and any income arising from it are not guaranteed and may fall, as well as rise, due to the value of its holdings, the income derived from them, and changes in interest rates. The Fund will hold shares or units in underlying funds which invest internationally, which will be exposed to exchange rate fluctuations, and may erode any potential gains.

Higher risk investments, such as small companies (even in developed markets), emerging markets, single country debt, equity funds, high yield and sub-investment grade debt may be more prone to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Unregulated funds may permit a greater degree of leverage than is permitted with regulated funds that are available to the general public in South Africa, which increases volatility and the risk of larger losses should the fund's value decrease.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. It is not possible to immediately assess the proper market price of these investments, as they will only be realisable on their dealing days.

A fund of fund collective investment scheme only invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and are subject to change thereby impacting the Fund's performance. Commissions and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.
